We are pleased to invite you to participate in our 44th National Patient Meeting, in celebration of the Association's 50th Anniversary! AAKP’s National Patient Meeting is a unique program that educates and inspires the nation’s largest gathering of kidney patients and their families. AAKP is expecting over 250 attendees for this year’s program. Sponsorship and exhibiting is vital to the success of the Meeting and demonstrates your support and corporate commitment to AAKP as well as the kidney patient population.

The AAKP is the oldest fully independent kidney patient organization in America. For 50 years, AAKP has been the leader in the fields of patient engagement, patient-centered education and public advocacy efforts. AAKP is proud of our legacy and we consider ourselves among the original pioneers of increased access to high quality care for kidney patients. One of our earliest advocacy achievements is a well-known Federal program, familiar across America and within the United States Congress, the End Stage Renal Disease (ESRD) Program administered by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).

AAKP is an IRS registered Sec. 501(C)(3) organization and is governed, by original design and intent, by a patient-majority National Board of Directors. AAKP was founded in 1969 by six kidney patients who were brought together by their disease, the shared prospect of a premature death and an intense desire to undergo and expand the availability of the still experimental and highly risky process of dialysis. These pioneers of patient engagement called themselves NAPH (National Association of Patients on Hemodialysis), the direct forerunner of AAKP. They set out to inform fellow patients and the public about the devastating impact of kidney disease for both patients and the families that depended upon them.

At the start, these AAKP kidney patients – and their compassionate care teams - knew their actions and early engagement would impact not only their own lives, but the lives of patients who they might never meet in the years and decades ahead. However, they also knew that self-less activism alone - absent a national strategy and the combined strength of powerful allies and sophisticated advocacy techniques – would not result in the national changes in treatment access and quality they sought for all kidney patients.

They developed and refined their strategy as they moved forward and targeted specific Federal laws and regulations that posed either barriers or potential opportunities to best address the needs of kidney patients. These early AAKP patient advocates demonstrated courage and leadership as they publicly told their personal stories, sought out empathetic allies in academia, among medical professionals, visionaries in the pharmaceutical industry, early leaders in the provider community, and among elected and appointed leaders throughout government.

After several years of non-partisan advocacy, a bi-partisan majority of the United States Congress passed the 1972 Amendments to the Social Security Act. According to the official history of the U.S. Social Security Administration, the 1972 legislative amendments extended health insurance coverage to people who had Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) and required dialysis (including peritoneal dialysis) or kidney transplantation services. President Richard M. Nixon signed this bi-partisan measure in 1973 and Federally-covered dialysis treatment and transplantation services for kidney patients began that same year.

These early AAKP patient advocates demonstrated courage and leadership as they publicly told their personal stories, sought out empathetic allies in academia, among medical professionals, visionaries in the pharmaceutical industry, early leaders in the provider community, and among elected and appointed leaders throughout government.
